BLACK WOLF.

The Black Leprosy is a disease which is considered incurable, but it has yielded to the curative properties of Swift's Specific—now known all over the world as S. S. S. Mrs. Bailey, of West Somerville, Mass., near Boston, was attacked several years ago with this hideous black eruption, and was treated by the best medical talent, who could only say that the disease was a species of and consequently incurable. It is impossible to describe her sufferings. Her body from the crown of her head to the soles of her feet was a mass of decay, masses of flesh rotting off and leaving great cavities. Her fingers festered and three or four nails dropped off at one time. Her limbs contracted by the fearful ulceration, and for several years she did not leave her bed. Her weight was reduced from 125 to 60 lbs. Perhaps some faint idea of her condition can be gleaned from the fact that three pounds of Cosmoline or ointment were used per week in dressing her sores. Finally the physicians acknowledged their defeat by this Black Wolf, and commended the sufferer to her all-wise Creator. Her husband hearing wonderful reports of the use of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) prevailed on her to try it as a last resort. She began its use under protest, but soon found that her system was being relieved of the poison, as the sores assumed a red and healthy color as though the blood was becoming pure and active. Mrs. Bailey continued the S. S. S. until last February every sore was healed; she discarded chair and crutches, and was for the first time in twelve years a well woman. Her husband, Mr. C. A. Bailey, is in business at 17½ Blackstone Street, Boston, and will take pleasure in giving the fullest details of this wonderful cure. Send to us for Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases, mailed free. A Great Strike Now in Progress at Chicago.

—LEPROSY—

TWENTY THOUSAND MEN IDLE

Manning Whitney and Lamont Laying Wires in New York—A Prince in Poverty—Rumors about Villard—The Anarchists.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The great strike of employes of Chicago packing houses against the proposition to return to the ten hour working day began this morning. Packing house owners had put up printed notices notifying their men that beginning next Monday the men would be expected to work ten hours instead of eight hours a day. This morning a committee of the 1700 men employed by the Chicago Packing & Provision company waited on the foreman of the works and demanded that the notices be taken down. The demand was refused and a regiment of workmen at once left the building and were soon joined by 800 men employed in the Silver Horn works.

Thus reinforced the large force went in a body to the Armour works to induce the men there to stop work. There is great excitement at the yards but no trouble has yet occurred.

The workmen at Armour's and the Anglo-American packing houses refused to go out to-day. Everything is quiet at the stock yards.

This afternoon a large body of additional workmen were on a strike, and a riot occurred at the works of John Morrell when a number of persons were hurt. The entire police force of the town of Lake has gone to the scene and two [illegible] Pinkertons armed with rifles have also gone. The riot was caused by an attempt of some of the Morrell men to return to work. Eight thousand men are now on a strike.

PINKERTONS AT THE YARDS.

At [illegible] P. M. Pinkerton detectives sat down to supper at the Transit house with Winchester rifles between their knees. Capt. Foley in charge said that by to-morrow he would have 400 men in and about the yards as an emergency committee.

The Pinkertons arrived at the yards at 4 o'clock via the Lake Shore railroad and were greeted by derisive yells from a crowd of 2000 which filled the street. The men went to the town hall and were all sworn in as specials. Then they were taken back into the cars. The crowd made it so unpleasant, however, that Capt. Foley formed his command into four companies and headed for the Transit house.

The strikers express an idea that the packers have a deep laid scheme to fill the houses with new men willing to work ten hours. It is said that to this end employers had been collecting men at outside points for months.

A feature of the strike to-day was the beef men coming out at Armour's. This was a surprise to the packers who apparently intended to confine the fight to the hog interests. The firm is left with 4300 head of cattle in their yard to feed. Armour's coopers came out also. They had asked for twenty five cents advance and it had not been granted.

It is estimated that there are now 20,000 men out of work, about one quarter of whom are strikers, the others being obliged to quit on their account for want of work. The strikers are skilled workmen, the remainder being laborers. These latter though not technically striking appear to be in hearty sympathy with the movement. The men all quit with their knives and other sharp-edged tools in their possession.

A mass meeting of strikers has been called for to-morrow afternoon at which it is feared trouble may develop. Fully 15,000 persons are expected to be present.

OFFENSIVE PARTISANSHIP.

Manning, Whitney and Lamont Trying to Run New York Politics.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Secretary Manning, Secretary Whitney, Private Secretary Lamont, Governor Hill and Collector Magone were busy at work yesterday in behalf of a union of democratic factions in the city. An agreement was reached as to the division of spoils and if it is carried out ex-Mayor Cooper will be the democratic candidate for mayor, but harmony has not been entirely reached and there may be some further change in the scheme.

THE PRESIDENT CONCERNED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The World's Washington correspondent says: Senator Gibson has had a [illegible] hearing with the president for three or four days [illegible] the alleged violation of the civil service order by federal officers in Louisiana in taking part in the congressional convention. The president declared that if he found there had been any violation of his order, removals would follow no matter what may have been the provocation. To-day Senator Gibson called Mr. Cleveland's attention to the conference of Manning, Lamont and Magone in New York and insisted that it was as important to investigate this matter as it was the Jones and Buck affair in New Orleans. The president said he was not aware that Lamont had gone to New York for purposes other than of a private nature.

THE PRESIDENT INDIGNANT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—A special from Washington to the Post says: The president's back is up. He is indignant at violations of the civil service order of July which forbade federal officials from taking any active part in politics and he proposes to make some striking examples which will be a warning to minor officials. "I think that the man who will be selected for the sacrifice at first will be Delaney, United States district attorney in Wisconsin, the collector of internal revenue at Indianapolis and the postmaster at New Orleans." This is the language of a civil service commissioner who is to be presumed to know what he is talking about.

A PRINCE IN POVERTY.

He is Unable to Pay his Board Bills, but Friends Come to his Relief.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Some time ago Prince Rochefort de Rohan, grand nephew of the famous Cardinal de Rohan, came to this city and lodged at the Belvidere hotel. He brought with him plenty of money and a letter of introduction from the Rothschilds to August Belmont. He fell in with a [illegible] of Austrian ex-army officers, impoverished [illegible] and others who spent all their money and helped the prince to spend his. The prince found his bill at the Belvidere [illegible] several weeks ahead of his purse and did not know what to do. In his predicament [illegible] the Hungarian Gypsy band came to the assistance of the prince whom he had known in Europe. The prince paid his score and went down town. He drifted into small rooms in First avenue and [illegible] are not expensive he soon found it impossible to pay the landlady. When his difficulties were at the worst, the distinguished African traveler Dr. Arthur Gorgeny, who had been spending eight years in central Africa, arrived in New York from Asia, having passed through San Francisco on his way home. He was a friend of the prince, who afterwards received [illegible] letters from Austrian merchants in New York tendering him any assistance he might desire. Another letter came from General Hanna, an associate of Kossuth, cordially inviting the prince to come out and enjoy a six months' hunt with him on his ranch in southwestern Missouri. The prince will go West soon after an expected [illegible] in New York [illegible] from Bagdad.

VILLARD.

Talk in Wall Street about his Return to the United States.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—There is a Wall street rumor afloat that Henry Villard, ex-president of the Northern Pacific railroad, will sail for this port next week and on his arrival will take possession of offices which have been engaged for him in the Mills building. He comes here in the interest of a syndicate of German banks and capitalists which proposes, it is said, to invest large sums of money in American enterprises. The principal member of the syndicate is the Deutsche bank of Berlin.

Villard is now in London and has been there since August 1. He is making arrangements supplementary to those concluded in Germany. His family accompanies him to this country. His investments will attract German capital and under Villard's control it will possibly have a great deal to do with some of the big reorganization schemes now under way and in prospect. Villard has been recently asked to resume the presidency of the Oregon & California railroad. It is a fact that English, Scotch and German capitalists who own the road began disputing and Villard was then in no health to undertake the settlement of the conflicting interests.

It has been decided that Villard will live again in his magnificent house on Madison avenue and Fiftieth street. He did not wish to go back there but he has been unable to dispose of the place to any advantage. It cost him about $800,000. He is [illegible] willing to accept any reasonable offer [illegible] come along.

NOTABLE DEAD.

DEATH OF EX-SENATOR PIKE.

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—United States Senator Austin F. Pike died suddenly at Franklin Falls, N. H., to-day. The senator had been in his usual health since his return from Washington last May. While walking around his farm a mile above Franklin Falls at noon to-day he suddenly dropped dead. He was 67 years old and leaves a widow, one son and two daughters. He had held many important state offices during his life and served one term in the house of representatives. In 1883 he was elected to the United States senate.

THE ANARCHISTS.

Fielden Makes a Long Speech in Court, and Reviews the Evidence.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The crowds which besieged the criminal court this morning for admittance to Judge Gary's court room came earlier than at any time during the anarchist trials. The speeches which the condemned men are making in their own behalf and the fact that the date for their execution is to be given to-day are responsible for this. Only a small portion of those who sought admission were successful.

When court was opened George Engel, one of the defendants, at once began his speech. He recounted his experiences in Germany where he was born and recited the hardships and tyrannies the people were forced to submit to there. He came to this country, sought work in Philadelphia and Chicago and found the same state of affairs existing. The capitalists became rich by their oppressions of the working classes. Engel then made a study of the question. He read Herr [illegible] books and became a socialist. Engel became very bitter in his remarks about America [illegible] He spoke until [illegible] o'clock.

Samuel Fielden then spoke. He related his history [illegible] that he had said [illegible] the witness stand and declared that he had never been guilty of any violence. He declared that the newspapers had [illegible] responsible for his death. [illegible] court adjourned until [illegible] o'clock.

[illegible] FIELDEN'S SPEECH.

Fielden in his speech turned his attention to the discrepancies between the testimony of the [illegible] sworn to his having [illegible] as the police [illegible] amiable and argumentative comparison of the testimony given by those witnesses. He referred to [illegible] truthful Jane [illegible] as follows: [illegible] this night. "The worst [illegible] Chicago [illegible] that it was [illegible] You [illegible] will do mine, or here comes the [illegible]. There is nothing in the proof that I did not walk away peaceably. I went away [illegible] Steel was on the stand [illegible] I declared I want to be hanged for [illegible] After I had escaped from the Haymarket meeting I went home. The explosion of the bomb was as much a surprise to me as to anybody [illegible] like any honest man [illegible] I thought when they found [illegible] I would be released. I said let them [illegible] as they like so long as they tell the truth. The great socialist who lived in this world over 1800 years ago, Jesus Christ—left these words [illegible] and the principles of justice and right have never been expressed in language better than this: 'Better that ninety and nine guilty men should go unpunished than one innocent man should suffer.'" He concluded thus: "We claim we are convicted not because we committed murder but because we were very energetic in advocacy of the rights of labor."

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

After Transacting Certain Business the Two Houses Unite as the Board of Missions.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The house of deputies of the Protestant Episcopal convention began its third day's session at 10 o'clock. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Carroll M. Davis of northern California.

The committee on rules reported a rule to the effect that no applause should be permitted during the sessions of the house. Adopted.

Dr. Swope's resolution on the subject of uniformity of marriage laws was referred to the joint committee on marriage and divorce.

A select committee reported that it was inexpedient to reduce the number of deputies. Adopted.

[illegible] Mr. Hibbard of Chicago presented memorials for a court of appeals and revision of the prayer book. Laid on the table.

Mr. Hunter presented a memorial relating to the prayer book annex and restoration of Christian unity.

Rev. Dr. Goff of Tennessee moved that the house grant permission to use for the next three years the first prayer book of Edward the Sixth. Laid on the table.

A messenger from the house of bishops announced that it had agreed to the appointment of a joint committee on revision of the prayer book. The president announced the following as the committee: Rev. Drs. Huntington, [illegible] [illegible] Hart, Judge Sheffey, Mr. Nash, Dr. Shattuck, Judge [illegible] and Mr. Packard.

The house of deputies then adjourned and [illegible] by the house of bishops resolved themselves into the board of missions, Bishop Lee of Delaware presiding.

The secretary of the board of missions read his report reviewing the work of the preceding three years. Resolutions introduced in the report were made the order of the day for Monday morning.

Bishop Bedell of Ohio read a letter from the American church bishop of Yedo and the Anglican bishop of Japan on the religious progress of the Japanese.

Bishop D. S. Tuttle of Utah followed with an impressive oral report in which he expressed sorrow that he was compelled to leave the territory having been elected bishop of Missouri. He said it was mainly through schools that the evil of Mormonism and polygamy was being attacked in Utah.

Bishop Morris of Oregon followed with an earnest appeal for greater liberality on the part of the East toward missions and missionaries in the West. After singing the doxology the board adjourned for one hour.

IN THE AFTERNOON.

This afternoon both houses again met as a board of foreign missions. Reports of missionary bishops continued. Bishops James [illegible], Hare, Spalding of Colorado, [illegible] of Western and Garrett of Northern Texas presented reports which spoke favorably of the progress in their dioceses. The convention was dismissed with [illegible] and benediction. The two houses will [illegible] meet to-morrow as a board of missions.

COMMERCE AND FINANCE.

Indications of Better Times in Reports to Bradstreet's—A General Review.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's [illegible] rate check [illegible] the [illegible] is expected at this time make plain new evidence of an exceptionally heavy volume of business. Bank clearings [illegible] very heavy total for thirty cities. During [illegible] week [illegible] Heavy dealings in the New York stock market will account for a share of this increase at New York, the total for the week [illegible] shares against [illegible] last week and [illegible].

Total earnings of [illegible] railways for September [illegible] reported to Bradstreet's [illegible] against [illegible] [illegible].

The New York stock markets [illegible] and influenced by a highly speculative feeling have advanced irregularly, although toward the close the market [illegible] quieter feeling [illegible]. Money was extremely [illegible] for [illegible] exchange weak and close to the gold importing point.

Sales of dry goods, cotton, wool and [illegible] have been somewhat checked [illegible] on all sides of a good demand in the near future.

Pig iron is now $1 per ton higher. In all directions Southern and Western furnaces are heavily sold and a demand for 40,000 tons from [illegible] consumers in New York for early delivery would [illegible] per ton. For this grade $18 is [illegible] asked with a probability of $20 by January.

Dry goods are firm. Prints [illegible] are higher and drawn and bleached sheetings are fractionally higher. Stocks are not increasing. Wool is [illegible] strong. In spite of speculative buying home prices are below foreign.

The loss of cotton in Texas by the late storms is reported to amount to over 30,000 bales.

Estimates of the loss to the Western tobacco crop are placed at from 5 to 10 per cent. Louisville reports inclining to the lower figure. There appears to be some doubt as to the extent of the loss by frost in the Virginia and North Carolina tobacco regions. Cotton and tobacco as well as petroleum remain dull, featureless and without material change in price at New York.

Hog products are depressed and lower. There is no sign of a gain in price despite the late excellent export demand. Receipts at the West and Northwest have declined some.

Flour is depressed and lower with continued heavy foreign consignments.

The industrial situation is disturbed by an extended strike and lock out of textile operatives at Philadelphia, a threatened lockout of knitting mill hands in the Hudson river valley, and the threatened strike of 20,000 pork packing employes at Chicago against enforcement of ten hours as a working day.

Improved cane crop prospects have further depressed sugar, and increased prospects of corn have caused a decline in whisky.

Discovery of a Startling Anarchist Plot at Vienna.

A SENSATIONAL EXPLANATION

The Relations between Austria and Germany—Minister Jackson Leaves Mexico for Home—A New Ministry.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Chronicle's correspondent at Paris says he has just heard from Vienna of the discovery of a startling anarchist plot to destroy Vienna and to assassinate Emperor Francis Joseph. The conspirators whose plans were frustrated had intended to carry out the plot on October 4. [illegible] fires throughout the city and during the confusion public buildings were to be blown up with dynamite. The police seized immense quantities of bombs and other explosives in different parts of the city, especially near the imperial residence at Schönbrunn and beneath a bridge leading to the [illegible] which the emperor crossed daily. It was [illegible] to make an attempt upon the life of the emperor at the same time. A large number of [illegible] and Austrians were arrested. The [illegible]. In consequence of [illegible] anti-socialist laws news of the discovery [illegible] withheld for several days.

SPAIN.

A SENSATIONAL EXPLANATION.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Times' London cable special says: The true story of the pardoning of the Spanish insurgents has leaked out. At a meeting of the cabinet on Monday it was resolved that the death sentences of the court martial should be affirmed. The under secretary to whom Premier Sagasta whispered the decision misunderstood the remark and announced to the crowd which had assembled [illegible] that they had been pardoned. The newspapers immediately telegraphed it to all parts of the country. Senor Sagasta as soon as he learned of the mistake sent a correction to all the newspapers. The press, however, did not believe the correction, thinking the cabinet wished to keep the pardon secret until after the meeting of the privy council, and published the pardon as authentic. The under secretary's blunder has saved the insurgents' lives.

THE BULGARIAN CRISIS.

THE RELATIONS BETWEEN AUSTRIA AND GERMANY.

VIENNA, Oct. 8.—Premier Von Taafe in the lower house of the Austrian parliament to-day, replying to interpellations, said the supposition that the relations between Austria and Germany had been shaken was completely groundless. The relations rest now as firmly, added the premier, on a basis which the ministry have repeatedly explained before the delegation. There is no occasion to portend any disturbance of the close and trustful relations existing on both sides. (Cheers.) Representative Hellsburg proposed to initiate the debate on the premier's reply. The proposition was rejected. The only members who voted for it were members of the Austro-German, anti-Semitic and democracy parties.

GERMANY.

NOTES FROM BERLIN.

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—The North German Gazette denies the report that the government intended to replace the military septennate by another arrangement for determining the strength of the army. The Gazette says nothing in that direction has ever been considered.

The appeal of the socialists Auer, Frohme and others against the sentence of the court at Freiburg comes before the court of appeal at Leipsic on October 20. If that tribunal should confirm the sentence, six of the condemned who are members of the reichstag will be unable to appear at the next session, their term of imprisonment covering nine months.

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE.

Arrangements for Removal of his Remains to Ohio—Action by Colored People.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Arrangements for the removal of the remains of the late Chief Justice Chase to Ohio are completed. The remains will be taken by the Baltimore & Ohio train leaving here Wednesday afternoon, the 13th inst., and be due in Cincinnati Thursday morning, the 14th inst. Memorial services will be held in the forenoon of the 14th in the Music hall. Funeral services will be held in the chapel of Spring Grove cemetery Thursday afternoon.

At a meeting of colored citizens of this district the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, We learn with great pleasure that memorial services in honor of the great and good late Chief Justice Chase will be held at the state capital in Columbus, Ohio, October 14 next—great and good to us as a people, for he was preeminently our friend, our friend when friends were few, our friend in church and state, our friend at the bar of the court of law and at the bar of public opinion, our living friend and dying friend, our friend in all [illegible] of politics, our friend holding all other [illegible] subordinate to the broad questions of [illegible] humanity, such a friend as to give all he could spare to our education, memorably $10,000 to endow the great African university of Wilberforce. Therefore

Resolved, That we trust that the 14th day of October will be set apart all over this land by the colored people as Chief Justice Chase day, and all colored institutions of learning have exercises commemorative of the day, that all churches and Sunday schools hold religious services, morning or evening, of grateful praise to Almighty God for giving to our race such a deliverer.

Resolved, That our religious press and secular press generally are requested to call attention to this object.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

THE KNIGHTS' CONVENTION.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 8.—At the close of the morning session of the Knights of Labor it was learned that most of the time has been occupied in discussion of the report of the committee on credentials.

At the afternoon session Mr. Powderly's address was [illegible] read and the report of the committee appointed to investigate the case of the Home club of New York was made and adopted. With regard to the nature of that report Powderly declined to furnish any information.

Committees were appointed upon law appeals and grievances, and upon the state of the order, and a special committee upon resolutions. Other business which came before the convention was appropriately referred. A resolution was adopted providing for the appointment of a special committee to take into consideration those parts of Powderly's address which relate to the education and training of youth for the performance of their duties as citizens.

Powderly was asked to-night if it was true as reported that the assembly yesterday appropriated $12,000 for the relief of those left idle by the strikes on the Southwestern railroads. He said it was not. No appropriation had been made for them nor was any needed. A fund of $100,000 raised for their relief had been distributed and there was no suffering now. He said a report had also been circulated that district 101 had been injured by strikes, but the district has five delegates in the convention, showing a membership of 5000 [illegible] more members [illegible] before the strike.

[illegible] MISSIONS.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 8.—The closing session of the American board was held this morning. Brief addresses [illegible] missions were made. The following [illegible] were adopted:

In view of the recent official reports from Pekin relative to outrages on missionaries in China, this board instructs the prudential committee to prepare and send [illegible] government in the name of this board a respectful protest against the wrongs which Chinese in this country have received and an earnest appeal to have these wrongs righted.

The farewell address was given by President Mark Hopkins, reviewing the work of the meeting.

Of eleven members of the prudential committee all were re-elected except the two named: Dr. Theorin, on account of removal, and Prof. E. C. Smith of Andover, who was dropped presumably [illegible] his new departure views. Rev. C. [illegible] Dickinson of Lowell, Mass., and Rev. F. H. [illegible] of Salem, Mass., were elected to fill the vacancies. The board then adjourned.

THE WESTERN UNION.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—A consultation of Western Union directors was held this afternoon in the Western Union building. After its close Russell Sage stated that in the annual election to be held Wednesday next there would be several new names placed on the directors' ticket, among them being that of Austin Corbin. Mr. Sage said that this [illegible] indicate a change of policy nor is it suggestive of a compromise but is simply due to his prominence as a railroad man. On the street it is generally believed that the changes mean that the Drexel-Morgan interest is to dominate in the company affairs. The directors emphatically deny this.

THE LA MASCOTTE DISASTER.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—The following deaths occurred yesterday among those injured in the La Mascotte disaster, making a total of thirty: L. Shell, colored, of Walnut Hill, Tenn.; Albert Rice, colored, of Hope; F. Sherry, Cincinnati; Lew Clatham, colored, Paducah, Ky., and George S. Davidson. The coroner's jury returned a verdict exonerating the officers of the La Mascotte from all blame, severely criticising Capt. Brough of the tugboat Eagle for his treatment of the survivors and for not attempting to run the burning boat ashore, and recommending that his license be revoked.

THE TOBACCO CROP.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 8.—The Journal of Commerce will publish to-morrow special reports from the tobacco growing sections of Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina. In some few instances the crop is as large as last year and the quality as good, but nearly all reports claim that the yield will be much reduced, estimates running from a one-third to a two-thirds crop, and with the quality especially in parts of North Carolina and Virginia very poor. In the great Durham district the yield is estimated at not over 40 per cent of an average and of a very inferior grade.

CATTLE DISEASE IN NEW JERSEY.

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 8.—Pleuro-pneumonia is recently [illegible] near Vineland [illegible] county and it has spread to an alarming extent. The state board of health has attempted to eradicate the disease by killing the infected animals and quarantining herds, but cases are still found throughout the country. The state veterinary surgeon, W. B. E. Miller of Camden, has been ordered by the government department of agriculture to examine into the contagion and report to the animal bureau.

NEBRASKA DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

HASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 8.—The democratic state convention met here last night. Gen. J. [illegible] Montgomery of Lincoln was elected chairman. After the appointment of a committee on resolutions, the following state ticket was nominated: For governor, James E. North; lieutenant governor, [illegible] B. B. [illegible]; treasurer, [illegible] E. [illegible]; auditor, Thomas [illegible]; attorney, W. L. Green; land commissioner, Thomas W. Smith; superintendent of public instruction, J. A. Cooley.

FOR THE GRANT MONUMENT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—"The Hermit of Cashel" was produced last night at the Metropolitan opera house for the benefit of the Grant monument fund. Apparently only a few beyond those directly interested in the affair took any interest in the project, for there was a small crowd present. The performance was given by amateurs. Among those present in boxes were Jesse and U. S. Grant, Jr., and their wives. Mrs. Grant was unable to be present.

THREE SHOCKS AT SUMMERVILLE.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 8.—There were three shocks at Summerville last night. Reports differ widely as to the intensity of the shocks, some residents declaring that they were more severe than any disturbance since August 31, while others report that they were slight tremors. No one was hurt, however, and no damage done to property. A slight shock was also felt here at 6 o'clock this morning.

THE WEEK'S FAILURES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Business failures throughout the country the last seven days in the United States number 167; Canada, 23. Failures in New York and the East are light, bulk of the week's casualties being reported from Southern and Western States and Canada.

AID FOR CHARLESTON.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—The mayor to-day telegraphed $2800 to the mayor of Charleston, S. C., for the benefit of the earthquake sufferers.

SECRETARY MANNING.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The prospects are that Secretary Manning will occupy his old office in the treasury department in [illegible] days.

RAILROAD NOTES.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The talk about the Canadian Pacific in Wall street which began about a week ago is becoming very widespread. The management is striving to interest American capital and is [illegible] arrangements to secure American traffic connection. The latest story is that the buying of New York & New England stock recently was on their account, and that the line would be used as a connection with Boston and New York. There is, brokers say, no doubt that the Canadian Pacific owners are doing everything to bring the road and whatever its merits are to the attention of Americans.

A WALL STREET RUMOR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Railroad circles and Wall street were excited to-day over the rumors of the merging of the New York, New Haven & Hartford, Boston & Albany, and the New York & New England railroads in one system. During the session an order was served on President Clark. It was said to be an order obtained by Cyrus W. Field from the supreme court, directing him to account for shares of the New England company to the amount of $1,240,000. Mr. Clark would not talk about the matter.

PACIFIC COAST.

The Ancon Runs on a Rock in Glacier Bay.

HER PASSENGERS ARE ALL SAFE

More Developments in the Case of the Alleged Outrage in Golden Gate Park—Advices from the Far North—Etc.

VICTORIA, Oct. 8.—The steamer Idaho, from Sitka, has arrived at Nanaimo. She reports that the steamer Ancon struck on an unknown sunken rock, at the entrance to Glacier bay on the night of September 13 and was leaking. She was beached one and a half miles from Port Gustavus, on Bartlett bay and sent a launch to Sitka and got the Pinta, which went to Juneau and obtained lumber and help to make temporary repairs with. The Idaho went to the wreck September 27, and proceeded to Sitka, and returned again October 2, and took the passengers off. Repairs having been made the Ancon in company with the Pinta and Idaho went to Juneau where Capt. Carroll beached her near the sawmill on Douglas island, to make further repairs. He expects to sail about October 1[illegible] on the return trip.

Lieut. Schwatka and a number of passengers came down by the Idaho.

ANOTHER REPORT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—The Pacific Coast Steamship company's steamer Idaho arrived at Port Townsend this morning bringing information as to the whereabouts of the Alaska steamer Ancon which has been so long overdue from Sitka. On the night of September 13 the steamer struck a rock in Glacier bay near Juneau, Alaska. It was found necessary to beach her. Examination showed that a large hole had been knocked in her hull. Up to the [illegible] inst. all hands were engaged making temporary repairs. She was then pumped out and proceeded to Juneau, where she arrived on October 3. On her arrival she was beached and repairs are now being made. The steamship company places no blame on Capt. Carroll.

THE ALLEGED PARK OUTRAGE.

The Defendant Proprietor of a Marriage Association—The Case in Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—Another phase of the alleged outrage on Mrs. Louisa Bell came to light yesterday. The name of Thomas J. Collins, who she claims first assaulted her, has been discovered to tally precisely both in occupation and general conduct to the Thomas J. Collins who is the accredited proprietor and manager of a marriage association located at 32½ Ellis street.

It is said that Mrs. Bell, shortly after her misfortune, stated to an old friend, H. J. Hammond, that her first knowledge of Collins had come in this wise. She had advertised for a position as servant, and in response to the advertisement Collins called upon her and stated that he could offer her light work in a small family at a salary of $25 per month. Continuing, Mrs. Bell said: "I went with him in search of a place and on the way he made a different statement to me. He said that he was in search of ladies who would be willing to join a marriage association and meet gentlemen with an ultimate view to matrimony. He took me to a place on Ellis street and from there I agreed to visit the park with him, at which place the assault occurred."

THE MARRIAGE ASSOCIATION.

After hearing Mr. Hammond's story a reporter visited the rooms of the marriage association. Mr. Collins was not in, but the secretary of the association was. Upon the visitor stating that he wished to know the objects of the association, with the intention of joining it, he was presented with the following circular:

Marriage association, 32½ Ellis street, room 2, San Francisco. This is an honorable, legitimate business association to enable those wanting to get married to become acquainted with desirable parties. As all matters are strictly confidential we expect full and truthful particulars from all. Give name, age, nativity, occupation, property and residence. We arrange all matters as to introduction, license, weddings, etc., when parties desire. We charge $2 admission fee to all, which entitles you to become a member of the association, and will then introduce you to such parties as you desire on our list. When suited, and a marriage is arranged, we charge the gentleman $2[illegible] payable after marriage only. We also secure escorts and ladies for theaters, balls, parties and all entertainments. COLLINS & CO.

Collins was interviewed in his cell in the city prison and when met by a reporter had just left his attorney, who had instructed him to answer no questions whatever. He did not deny, however, having induced Mrs. Bell into posing as an animated [illegible] for the enchantment of clients whom he expected would call at the Ellis street rooms.

THE CASE IN COURT.

The case was called in the police court this morning for preliminary examination. The attorneys for the prosecution thought that a charge of this nature should be tried with closed doors. The defense, however, protested, claiming that Collins had been greatly maligned, and that the press of the city had been imposed upon. The court declined to order a private trial.

Mrs. Bell was the first witness examined. She said she went to an employment office on the 29th inst. and said she wanted work. She was introduced there to a man who said his name was Jones. She identified Collins as that man. He said he desired a girl to serve his wife, and would pay $20 a month. He asked her if she had any objection to living a considerable distance out of town and she replied that she did not. They took the car and rode to the park, where they got off, and commenced to walk across it. After getting to a secluded spot he seized her and threw her down. She struggled with him until he was compelled to desist. After the struggle she became partly unconscious and he accomplished his vile purpose. He then compelled her to go to the White house with him, and while on the way repeated the assault. At the White house she was asked what she would drink, and took soda water which had a strange effect upon her.

On cross examination nothing of importance was elicited. Counsel endeavored to ask witness what took place after defendant left the White house, which he did shortly after their arrival there, but the prosecution objected. Counsel for the defense stated that he wanted to show that witness had accepted $20 from Jones and stayed there all night of her own free will, carousing and drinking. After argument the prosecution withdrew the objection. The case then went over until to-morrow.

CALIFORNIA.

FROM THE FAR NORTH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—The schooner Matthew Turner arrived this afternoon bringing the latest news from the far north. No schooners have been seen about the seal islands.

On August 13th the revenue steamer Bear took twenty five miners from the Yukon, their provisions having run out.

Stories of gold strikes in the Yukon vary. One man claims that the latest strikes are paying $80 a day and others who came down report that the bars are worked out and no new discoveries have been made. Sixty miners are still at work in the river.

The Bear also took the exploring party of Lieut. Stoney on board. Stoney sold his river steamer to parties in Alaska. The Bear arrived at Ounalaska September 14th and left on the 19th.

The whaling fleet has been generally unsuccessful this season.

EARTHQUAKE AT SAN DIEGO.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 8.—A sharp earthquake occurred here at 3 this morning. The vibrations were east to west. There was no damage.

PROTECTION THAT KILLS.

It was only the other day that the great coal companies met in New York and arbitrarily put up the price of one of the prime necessities of life, viz., fuel. How were they able to do it? We answer, by securing monopoly of the home market through a protective tariff; and then combining to restrict production and putting prices artificially high. What is the result? The coal miner's earnings for the year are put down below the level of the English miner and the price of the workingman's fuel is increased. Where does "the protection" of the workingman come in in this case? You might as well say that if you cut off a dog's tail and ears the same day he has reason to feel highly amused, entertained and grateful, as to say that a tariff on coal, which enables the coal combination to restrict production, which reduces the earnings of the miner, and to artificially put up the price of coal, thus swelling the cost of the workingman's fuel, was "protection" to labor.

A meeting of operatives in the textile industries of Pennsylvania last spring framed a petition to congress in which they said: "It is no longer necessary to scour Europe to find pauper labor. We have it here in our iron and coal mines, working for 75 cents a day, and skilled operatives in our cotton and woolen mills working for less than 80 cents per day." The pauper labor of Italy is taking the place of the Irish in railroad building and road work, the Poles and Hungarians swarm in the coal fields. According to the testimony collected by the Pennsylvania State Bureau of Statistics, whose chief is a protectionist, from the lips of English miners, the condition of the miner is worse in Pennsylvania than in Great Britain. The British miner works less hours in the day, but more days in the year; he does not get as high wages in money, but he does not pay high rent, his fuel is very cheap; nor is he swindled by company stores. The English miner gets house, garden and coal for 25 cents a month and the company pays the taxes on the house. He gets medical attendance and medicine at the same rate when needed. While it is true as a general fact that the average of wages in the United States is higher than in Great Britain, and the condition of the working class, as a whole, is better, it is not true in these very mining districts and industries we tax ourselves so heavily to protect. John L. Butler, chief assistant of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Industrial Statistics, in a recent speech declared that all tariffs are injurious to labor, and the Philadelphia Record, anti-protection organ, has the largest circulation of any paper in the state. Mr. Blaine and his school treat all these facts as Lord Nelson did when told at Copenhagen that the signal of the admiral was flying to retire from action; he put his glass to his blind eye and swore he could not see the signal. Blaine don't wish to see and shelters himself behind his blind eye.

THE NEW RAILROAD SCHEME.

No one in Portland should jump to the conclusion that the Central Pacific's great scheme of pushing the California & Oregon road into Oregon by way of the Klamath lakes, and thence northward through Middle Oregon to intersection with the lines of the O. R. & N. company will necessarily be detrimental to Portland's commercial interests. But even if it should be so, that would constitute no sufficient reason why the country should not desire this road, as well as any other that will extend the facilities of transportation to any part of the Northwest still in need of them.

In the coming development of the country Portland must take care of herself. This she can easily do; this she will do. A rail route through Middle Oregon will be a route for Portland as well as for San Francisco, with the advantage of distance and time largely on the side of Portland. The California road through Middle Oregon will want connection with the business of Western Oregon and Western Washington; and this it will be able to get only through Portland.

Development of particular localities in the Northwest, one after another, contributes steadily to increase of the aggregate wealth and business of the country; and hence a gain for one locality is a gain for every other. It only remains to say that in the midst of the changes which this rapid development is bringing about, it is the duty of Portland to study alike her own interests and the interests of the country, and be prepared to make the one sort harmonize with and promote the other.

During the war of the rebellion, when a line of battle was formed by United States troops, it was customary to throw out a line of pickets, men armed with rifles some distance in front of the main body, to fire on and give notice of the approach of those in rebellion against the government. Since the close of the rebellion such precautions have seldom been taken. When, therefore, an old soldier a few days ago was approaching the town of North Yakima, Washington territory, he was not a little surprised at perceiving a line of pickets thrown out some distance from the train when it stopped just outside the town. This warlike spectacle in a time of profound peace attracted his attention, reminded him of war times and naturally excited his curiosity. He was about to inquire whether there were any rebels around, and if so what they were rebelling against, when the whole cause of this warlike display became apparent. From one of the front cars of the train tumbled a gang of Chinamen and their bundles, on their way north to work on the railroad grade. It was explained that they were taken off here to prevent "trouble" in the town and from this point were taken forward in wagons to the place where they were to work. These armed men were thrown around these peaceful Chinamen for what? To protect them against people who, if they acted and then, would do so in open [illegible] against our own laws. Have we then reached that point that life and property is not safe unless guarded by an armed picket line as in time of war? If we have it is about time for thoughtful men to ask themselves the question, which shall we have, an enforcement of our own laws by the duly constituted civil authorities, or martial law?

THE OREGONIAN would be glad to see a democratic daily paper successfully established at Portland. Messrs. Bell & Pithian, in the Evening Democrat, have made a start which, if followed up with skill and energy, may give their party what has long been supposed to be its chief want in Oregon. A weekly has not been announced, but probably will soon be issued. "The Evening Democrat," says the publisher's notice, "will be, as its name implies, a democratic paper, devoted to the interest of the democratic party and the cause of the people." And Mr. Bell, in his introductory article, says: "It will be the unvarying policy of the editor to promote the amenities of the press."

Lord Randolph Churchill seems trying to bring about in England "a sound conservative government" after the model of Lord Beaconsfield as set forth in Coningsby. "A sound conservative government," said Taper musingly, "I understand: Tory men and Whig measures." And thus ended a political controversy between Mr. Tadpole and Mr. Taper. But Lord Randolph is not the first to put into practice this excellent principle. His excellency, Grover Cleveland, president of these United States, has illustrated it in his administration and with notable success. We have a sound democratic government at this time on the basis of democratic men with republican principles and methods of government.

Mr. Campbell, constructor of the bridge over the river at this city, says the openings on each side of the draw will each be 138 feet in the clear. This he deems ample width, and he says that his plans have met with no objection from such river men as he has submitted them to.

Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses, and is a fair equivalent for a dollar.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

NORTH YAKIMA, Oct. 5.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The writer has never questioned the sincerity of THE OREGONIAN'S views in regard to high license for the liquor traffic, and for that reason now asks it to answer the following questions: First—Is THE OREGONIAN opposed to prohibition because it believes that prohibition cannot be enforced, especially in the large cities, on account of the determination of the liquor men and their friends not to obey the law? Second—And if so, how does it expect to enforce high license unless the liquor men and their friends are in favor of it? Third—Does it not of necessity follow that high license does not lessen the sale of liquor? Would the liquor men and their friends favor a law that would reduce the sale of or the demand for liquor (the [illegible])? Fourth—If the liquor men and their friends oppose high license, how does THE OREGONIAN expect to enforce it?

Answers to the above questions are earnestly desired. LOOKOUT.

ANSWERS.

1. One reason, and the chief one why THE OREGONIAN opposes a general prohibitory law is because it knows that prohibition cannot be enforced, especially in the cities and larger towns, on account of the determination of the multitude who want liquors not to obey the law. The result of a prohibitory law in such places is free whisky always. THE OREGONIAN does not oppose a prohibitory law for all localities. There are places where such law can be enforced with a good deal of success, because in such places there are not many who want to drink. Let such places have prohibition, if they want it, but let them not make the mistake of forcing prohibition on those places that will disregard it. That is, don't give us in the cities and large towns free whisky, in the name of prohibition.

2. High license can easily be enforced where prohibition can not, because multitudes who oppose prohibition and will violate prohibitory laws nevertheless will earnestly join in enforcing high taxation. They are persons who use liquors in small quantities and seldom abuse them, who want liquors and will have them, and yet are willing to tax the traffic at a high rate.

3. High taxation may not in all places materially diminish the sale of liquors; in some places it certainly has done so. The error in "Lookout's" argument arises from his refusal to distinguish between the seller and buyer of liquors. Of course the seller don't want consumption diminished. He wants to sell all he can. But the buyer isn't looking after the interests of the seller. The seller would be glad to sell without any kind of hindrance or restriction; but the buyer, though he will not consent to prohibition, is willing to put a tax upon the seller, and usually he is willing to make it a high tax. Bring this force to bear, and the seller must consent to a high tax, even if he don't like it. But if you demand prohibition this force can not be brought to bear; for the buyer, though he will join in enforcing high license, will not join in enforcing prohibition.

4. The fourth inquiry is answered by what has been said in reply to the third.

TO THE SPIRITUALISTS OF OREGON.

We, the undersigned, believing that the time has now arrived that a closer bond of union should be established among the spiritualists of Oregon, and that steps should be taken to organize societies throughout the state, and that ways and means should be devised to distribute spiritual literature among persons inquiring after the truth, do issue this call for a state convention to be held at Salem on Saturday and Sunday, October 30 and 31, 1886, and we invite all spiritual societies now organized within the state to send delegates to this convention, and also all localities where five or six spiritualists may reside to select one of their number to attend and represent them in said convention. And we do hereby pledge ourselves to be present, if possible, on the occasion, and use our best efforts to carry into effect the objects of the convention.

Arrangements will be made with the various transportation companies for reduced rates of fare to persons attending the convention. A committee has also been appointed to secure a suitable building for holding the convention and to arrange quarters for those attending. Let us make it a grand success.

Over Many a League

Spreads the miasma, or poisonous vapor, that begets malarial and typhus fever. Wherever there is stagnant water in which vegetation, or refuse of any kind decays, there, as surely as the sun rises, are generated the seeds of fever and ague, dumb ague, and other endemic maladies of the malarial type. For the effects of this envenomed air, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters furnishes an antidote and prevents both the contraction and recurrence of such maladies. Even along the line of excavation for the Lesseps Panama Canal, where malarial diseases are not only virulent but deadly, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has demonstrated its insuperable protective qualities. Not only for febrile complaints, but also for disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, for rheumatism and inactivity of the kidneys and bladder, it is very effective. It counteracts the effects of fatigue, damp and exposure.

Not Crazy!
But We've Got an Idea.

Come and see us and we will whisper it in your ear. We'll tell you what we are going to do.

THIS WEEK WE'VE GOT

Some men's heavy wool [illegible] For instance, a fine line of all-wool [illegible] $10 [illegible] The above are extra big bargains, some lots that I closed out East, and which have just arrived.

THEN WE'VE GOT

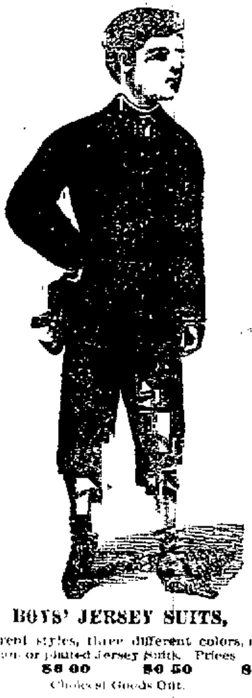
A big lot of English Tricot suits in blue and brown at $16.50; the regular price all over is $25. Besides these we have over 40 styles in fine Cassimere Suits at most any price.

PROMENADE SUITS.

Now here we can't be beat. We have got some awful Nobby Suits in four-button frocks and Prince Albert frocks and one button cutaways, etc. We can let you pick from over forty different patterns at prices from $20 to $35. These goods are made up first-class, sewed with silk and the very best linings in them.

OVERCOATS.

Now this is pretty near to Overcoat weather. We are ready for just one thousand customers, and we have got a line that the most fastidious can pick from at any price. We have some entire new things in Overcoats which it will be well for intending purchasers to examine.



BOYS' JERSEY SUITS.

Ten different styles, three different colors, all new shades, plain or plaited Jersey Suits. Prices:
$5 00 $6 00 $6 50 $7 50
Choicest Goods Out.

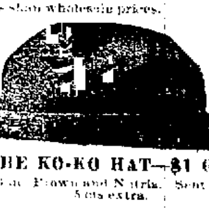
We've got an elegant line of Short Pants Suits for ages 4 to 13 years at $3, $4, $5, $6, $7 and $8. Samples of these Suits sent to the country free of charge. When ordering state age.

BOYS' OVERCOATS

At prices so low that you will wonder how we do it. But we have them, and are selling Boys' Clothing cheaper than any house on the coast.

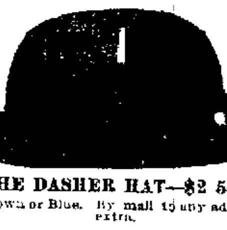
UNDERWEAR.

You are throwing your money away when you fail to look at our Underwear Department. We have more Underwear than you will find in any two stores, but the prices are what catch me. We retail Underwear at less than wholesale prices.



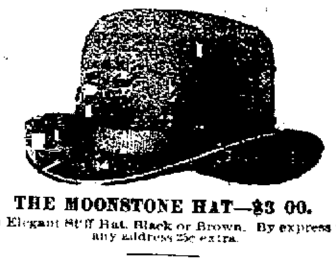
THE KO-KO HAT—$1 00.

In Black, Blue, Brown and Nutria. Sent by mail for 15c extra.



THE DASHER HAT—$2 50.

Black, Brown or Blue. By mail 15c to any address 15c extra.



THE MOONSTONE HAT—$3 00.

An Elegant Stiff Hat, Black or Brown. By express to any address 25c extra.

MERCHANT TAILORING.

Those wishing Suits to order will find us leaders. We guarantee a fit, at the lowest prices ever offered in this city, for cash only.

We mail Catalogue and Samples free to any address. When ordering Samples state style of Coat and chest measure.

Notice of [illegible]

PORTLAND, OR., Oct. 1st, 1886.

We have this day entered into a partnership agreement for the purpose of conducting a wholesale and retail Book and Stationery business, under the firm name of J. K. GILL & CO.

This is a consolidation of the wholesale business of J. K. Gill & Co. and the retail business of W. B. Ayer & Co. All liabilities of both firms will be settled by the new firm, and all outstanding accounts will be collected by the same.

In order to secure the best facilities for conducting our business, we have moved into more commodious quarters, now occupying the new Falling Building, northwest corner First and Oak streets, vacating stores at 28 and 30 [illegible] First street.

A continuance of patronage is solicited, with the assurance that our new arrangements will enable us to meet the wants of the public better than ever before.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

THE NEW TELEGRAPH [illegible].—Mr. J. W. Mackay, the well known [illegible] and [illegible] proprietor of the Mackay-Bennett [illegible] telegraph lines, arrived yesterday over the Northern [illegible] accompanied by his secretary, [illegible] Day [illegible] and [illegible] of New York. The party [illegible] San Francisco [illegible]. Mr. Mackay's [illegible] is [illegible] his telegraph line [illegible] is [illegible] as rapidly as possible. The line is ready [illegible] the way of the Canadian Pacific railroad to Port Moody. Two number wires [illegible] and as business warrants additional wires will be added. From Port Moody the line is being built to Seattle, which point it is expected will be reached within thirty days as some [illegible] miles of the line is already up. From Seattle the Postal Telegraph company expect to build to Portland by way of the Northern Pacific railroad. It is reported that an effort may be made however to restrain them from following the line of the railroad from Seattle to Portland by the Northern Pacific company whose lines are controlled by the Western Union company but this remains to be seen. From Portland to San Francisco the postal telegraph company is stringing a wire by way of the O. & C. and California and Oregon railroad route and expect to have through connection from the east to San Francisco by January 1st. Operations are also progressing extensively in the east, and with the cable which has already been laid on the completion of the line to San Francisco and with the postal telegraph company's Canadian connections quite a circuit of the globe will have been [illegible] by the new company. One reason of their building by way of the Canadian Pacific route is that the Western Union controls all the other railroad routes to the east, both north and south.

REDUCTION IN STAMPED ENVELOPES.—A [illegible] was announced several months since, the postoffice department under a new contract has [illegible] a great reduction in the prices of stamped envelopes, and some changes in the styles and [illegible] thereof. There are eleven sizes of envelopes, [illegible] ranging from small note up to large baronial. There are some half dozen or more styles and qualities in the new schedule which were not found in the old [illegible]. [illegible] supply has been ordered by Postmaster [illegible] and it is expected that they will arrive to-[illegible]. First quality envelopes will be in white and amber, second quality in buff and blue, third quality plain and amber manilla. The reduction in prices is considerable. Small note is reduced from $1.60 to $1.40 per thousand, commercial first quality from $[illegible] to $1.80 per thousand, [illegible] from $5.65 to $[illegible], and other sizes in proportion. This reduction took effect October [illegible] but envelopes ordered before that date must [illegible] be filled at the old schedule rates. Among the new styles is the [illegible], three and three quarter by six and three quarter inches, the Small Baronial, three and nine sixteenths by four and five-eighths inches, and the Large Baronial, four and one eighth by five and one eighth inches. The last two it will be observed are nearly square in form and they are of the styles greatly in use in inclosing notes, invitations, etc.

A WORK OF ART.—The West Shore for October contains a series of magnificent engravings illustrating the varied features of Portland's Chinese quarter. In all the efforts of the various periodicals of the United States to illustrate the Chinese and their peculiarities nothing has ever been produced that can at all compare with these. The engravings comprise interior scenes in a restaurant, theater, gambling house, opium den, etc., and several exterior views, including a Chinese funeral. They are executed in three colors and are works of art. An interesting article descriptive of the Chinese as we see them here accompanies the sketches. The number also contains an article on Mount Adams illustrated with a series of sketches, illustrations of the state fair recently held in Salem, and of the new toll route across the Cascades from Bellingham bay. Several contributed articles of interest and merit complete the number, the whole forming the most attractive and entertaining one yet issued. The publisher offers to send the remaining numbers for 1886 free to those who subscribe now for 1887. This will include a large engraving of Mount Hood in eight colors, to be issued with the holiday number.

NEW SUITS INSTITUTED.—Suit was commenced in the state circuit court yesterday by A. J. Weller & Co. against D. A. B. Henarie to recover $40[illegible] rent for the premises known as the Argonaut saloon, 134 First street. Plaintiffs claim that March 1, 1885, F. Martin rented the place for $[illegible] a month for a term of twenty five and two thirds months, and Henarie agreed to pay $[illegible] a month of the rent, but has not paid that for September and October, although it was demanded of him. Augustine Hermens has commenced suit against J. W. Hern. Plaintiff complains that May 31, 1884, defendant sold him lots [illegible] and 10, block [illegible], Waverly tract, in section [illegible], township [illegible] range 1 east, for $[illegible], payable in monthly installments of $10. That he paid for the property and defendant refuses to give him a deed for it. Wherefore he prays the court to compel defendant to do so. Ida Hodes has commenced an action for a divorce from M. B. Hodes on the ground of cruel treatment and drunkenness on the part of the defendant, also gambling, etc. They were married in Oregon City October 1[illegible], 18[illegible]8, and have no children.

DIVE KEEPER INDICTED.—Among the indictments recently found by the grand jury is one against Charles Trieber, a saloon keeper at Front and Madison streets, for keeping a house of ill fame. Trieber is the fellow who was arrested and fined on three different occasions for permitting minors in his saloon, one case being a charge of harboring a young girl from The Dalles. The last time he was convicted in the police court his license to sell liquor was declared forfeited, but it afterwards transpired that he hadn't taken out any license for the quarter, consequently there was none to forfeit. Trieber was arrested on the indictment and released from custody on giving a bond of $100 for his appearance. The prosecuting attorney intends to try the case before a jury so as to determine whether or not convictions can be had in such cases as Trieber's.

CONTENTMENT ON CRUTCHES.—Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather the tabernacle was well filled last evening by a fine audience at the opening of the course of entertainments given by the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Dudley's lecture was a bright one and abounded with well told stories and humorous anecdotes which kept the audience in good spirits from the start. His treatment of the subject "Contentment on Crutches" was as eloquent and forcible as the subject itself is unique, the instruction imparted being to the effect that the cheerful spirit is a continual feast. The lecturer is able, eloquent and scholarly. His manner is engaging and can not fail to interest any audience. On next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings our people will have an opportunity of hearing Mr. Dudley in dramatic readings at the Young Men's hall.

WILL PLEAD ON MONDAY.—Yesterday in state circuit court department No. [illegible] Charles Johnston was arraigned on a charge of altering a check. Johnston during the latter end of the month of July was working back of East Portland for a Mr. McKinnon and received when he left or was discharged a check for $1.[illegible]0. This he raised and passed for $1[illegible].0. The check was drawn on the Portland National bank. Johnston has been allowed until Monday to plead. He [illegible] will also be called upon to plead Monday on a charge of stealing an umbrella September 2[illegible] from the residence of Mrs. S. J. [illegible] belonging to H. S. Martin. [illegible] indicted for stealing a horse from [illegible] O'Leary [illegible] pleaded not guilty when arraigned. His case was set for trial Friday October 15.

THE CASCADE TUNNEL.—[illegible] W. H. [illegible], the well known railroad contractor, who was in the city yesterday, has just come down from the Cascade branch of the Northern Pacific. He reports everything progressing favorably there. He expects to have his contract of thirty one and a half miles on the [illegible] of the tunnel completed by November 1, and thinks the Thompsons will be running [illegible] to the east end of the tunnel by November 15. He will also have [illegible] his contract on the west side [illegible] tunnel completed by November 1. Mr. H. [illegible] left last evening for Albany to look after his extensive contract on the Oregon Pacific.

WE WANT TO TRY THEM.—The stamped letter sheet lately issued by the post office department to a number of offices have found great favor wherever introduced. Calls for them are made daily at the post office here, and Postmaster Toby has made application for a supply but has not been able to get any. Of course the department is not prepared to furnish these convenient sheets to every office, as they have so far been sent out more as an experiment than anything else, but a postoffice of the importance of Portland's should certainly be entitled to receive some of them in order that our citizens may have an opportunity to test their value.

THREE TIMES WON.—Some time ago Bills & Elder attached a lot of furniture in East Portland which they claimed was owned by a man named Jorgenson to recover $34. Subsequently Andrew Rasmussen put in an appearance and laid claim to the furniture and brought suit against Marshal McMillan to recover possession of it in Justice Bushwiler's court. He was successful and the case was appealed to the state circuit court, and again decided in Rasmussen's favor. Yesterday it came up for trial in the state circuit court before Judge Shattuck and a jury and again Rasmussen won. The furniture is valued at $[illegible].

YOM KIPPUR.—The services last night at the Temple Beth Israel were very impressive. An eloquent sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Bloch. To-day services are being conducted all day long. No food or liquids of any description are being partaken of by the adherents of the God of Israel from sundown last night until the same hour this evening. At 4 P. M. to-day Prof. Grossman who is an eminent Hebrew scholar will deliver a German lecture appertaining to this most important of all the Jewish holidays.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF YOUNG LADIES.—Mrs. J. H. Barchus has opened at 14[illegible] Third street a class in landscape and flower painting for young ladies under 18 at the reduced rate of fifty cents per lesson. This will enable the young ladies who have talent in this line to gratify it at small cost. Saturday will be reserved for this class, thus enabling young ladies who attend school to avail themselves of the opportunity. Mrs. Barchus's specimens will be seen at the fair.

ARRANGING TO RECEIVE DAVITT.—The delegates from the different Irish organizations of this city met last night at the A. O. H. hall, to make arrangements for the reception of Mr. Michael Davitt, who will arrive here on the 14th inst. Thomas Kearney was elected president, P. J. O'Connor secretary and Frank Gatens treasurer. An adjournment was then had until next Sunday afternoon at [illegible] o'clock, when the various committees will meet to perfect matters.

DIVORCE GRANTED.—Carrie Hoopes has been granted a decree of divorce from Charles Hoopes on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment. Plaintiff alleged in her complaint that defendant stayed out nights gambling and drinking and would then come home and ill treat her. They were married October 24, 1880, in Chester, Pa.

HANDSOME GROUNDS.—Mrs. M. S. Burrell has [illegible] the remaining one-third of the block between Eighth and Ninth, Jefferson and Madison on which her residence is situated, and is improving it by sodding, planting trees and shrubbery, building a conservatory, etc., and she will soon have grounds around her home which will be one of the handsomest in the city.

DEPUTY APPOINTED.—Superintendent of Streets Vaughn, reposing especial trust and confidence in William Mulholland, has appointed that young man his deputy. Mr. Mulholland is well qualified for the duties of the office and will no doubt fill it with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of the public.

PASSED RESOLUTIONS—SYMPATHETIC LETTER.—The class mates in the High school of the late Louis Perry passed resolutions of condolence, and his teacher sent the family a letter of sympathy highly complimentary to deceased.

HARVEST CONCERT.—At the Unitarian church to-morrow evening the annual harvest festival of the Sunday school will be celebrated by appropriate exercises.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

A School to be Established on Carter's Hill

The school board met in regular session last night, directors Wassermann and Durham absent, director Wilson presiding.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

COMMUNICATIONS

From Miss Nettie Gray, Mrs. Clara [illegible], C. [illegible] and Mary [illegible] Humphreys, applying for teachers' positions.

CLAIMS ORDERED PAID.

Teachers' salaries	$[illegible]
Janitors' salaries	[illegible]
Rent school clerk's office	30 00
Interest on bonds	[illegible]
James Dwyer	[illegible]
Olds & Summers	[illegible]
C. H. Dodd & Co	[illegible]
David Cole	[illegible]
Wm Johnson & Son	5 00
F. I. Beach & Son	138 [illegible]

Director Thompson reported as to the establishment of a school on Carter's hill, that the number of children residing there of school age was [illegible], number who would attend school 26, rent of a school building $5 a month and that it would cost $100 to repair the building. Mr. Thompson said he was in favor of the establishment of the school and one teacher could run it. There were stoves in the Harrison street school in disuse that could be used. There was only one argument against it and that was on the score of economy. It would cost for repairs and a teacher $600 at least for a year.

Dodd asked if it would be a permanent school.

Thompson replied that he thought so as many persons were clearing lots on the hill to build next spring.

Dodd moved that the proposition for a building at $5 a month be accepted and the repairs made. Carried.

Messrs. Wilson and Thompson were appointed as a committee to attend to the repairs.

The school was ordered established and named the Ainsworth school.

On motion of Director Thompson Miss Annie Knox was elected teacher. Adjourned.

BRIEF MENTION

The county court was yesterday engaged in passing bills.

Big Saturday night bill at the Tivoli. Twenty artists will appear.

Remember the lecture of Mrs. Reese at the tabernacle to-morrow evening.

The Knights of Pythias will give a grand ball on Tuesday evening, the 12th inst., at Turn Hall.

Joseph Smith has moved his pile driver into Couch lake and will begin driving piles for the North Seventh street bridge to-day.

The new school on Carter's hill is to be named the Ainsworth, after Capt. J. C. Ainsworth, one of Portland's oldest school directors.

The funeral of Cornelius Ryan who was found dead in bed Thursday afternoon will take place at [illegible] this morning from the cathedral.

Wm. Lloyd was arrested early yesterday afternoon on a warrant issued by the police judge for beating his wife and threatening to do her serious bodily harm.

The coal mine at Seatco, owned by Coulter, David & Co., is turning out an excellent quality of coal. They have contracted to supply fifty tons per day to the Northern Pacific Railroad company.

A fish and game dealer received fourteen dozen of pheasants from one man yesterday and fifty dozen of fine trout from Lewis river. People who think this is not a good country for fish and game should stop here awhile.

The remains of Eugene Mills, the brakeman who was killed in the yard at Albina Tuesday night, were shipped yesterday to Howell, Livingston county, Michigan, where the father of the deceased, Dr. W. J. Mills, resides.

The special delivery system which went into force on the 1st inst., by which parcels of any kind transmitted through the mails are delivered at once if bearing a special delivery stamp, is found to work well and has resulted in a great increase of business at the postoffice here.

Judge Stearns yesterday made an order allowing Joseph Holladay and George W. Weidler, receivers in the Holladay case, to lease the building at the corner of F and First streets to the Oregon Transfer company for two years at $30 a month. This is the old triangle building.

THE COURTS

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

W. J. Rose admitted to practice.

Fragg vs. city of Portland, demurrer to bill sustained as to first ground and overruled as to second ground, with leave to plaintiff to answer bill within ten days.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT, NO. 1.

Fred Kittner vs. Watson, Wright & Co.; plaintiff allowed ten days from this date in which to file bill of exceptions and motion for a new trial.

The case of S. A. Neppach vs. W. P. Jordan was on trial yesterday in Judge Shattuck's court. The suit is one in ejectment brought originally by Wm. Neppach, since deceased, to remove Jordan from a farm on the east side. Jordan claims the right to stay there by a lease. The case has not yet been decided.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT, NO. 2.

[illegible] Rohl vs. C. F. Pearson; exceptions to referee's report argued and taken under advisement.

POLICE COURT.

The police court session yesterday was short and to the point. C. Livingston, W. Morris and J. J. Lawson were fined $10 each for sleeping in H. Johnson's shed at Twenty-second and C streets without leave. Fighting Murphy was sent up for five days for defacing a building on Fourteenth street between O and P while on a jam. He brought in Mrs. Mooney as a witness and she swore that on the night in question at 11 o'clock he was in her house and behaving himself. Policeman Ellwanger testified that the disturbance occurred four hours previous to the time mentioned by Mrs. Mooney. This settled it.

PERSONAL

[illegible] arrived home yesterday over the Canadian Pacific from attending the Sovereign Grand Lodge I. O. O. F.

[illegible] Capes has returned from Union, the case he went up there to defend having been postponed till the first Monday in December.

Dr. F. M. Christie, a prominent physician of [illegible], is stopping at the Merchants' with the intention of settling permanently in Portland.

Mrs. A. M. Elkins, formerly of Portland, carried off the first prize at the Mechanics' fair recently held in San Francisco, being awarded a [illegible] medal for finest display of Kensington embroidery.

The New York agent of THE OREGONIAN writes under date of October [illegible] as follows: "I had a personal call to-day from Mr. C. G. McCord, Portland passenger agent of the Oregon Short Line. He greatly enjoyed the files of THE OREGONIAN and says it is the bible in your part of the country."

RESOLUTIONS

On hearing of the death of Louis Perry, the students of the Portland High school met in the assembly hall October [illegible], 1886, and unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That in the death of our young friend and schoolmate we lament the loss of one who by his kindly disposition, gentlemanly behavior and cheerful attention to duty had won the esteem and respect of the entire school.

Resolved, That while in thus testifying our regard for him we render but just tribute to the memory of the departed, we also extend our sympathy to those who are nearest and dearest, and share in the deep sorrow which his early death has caused.

Resolved, That this heartfelt testimonial be transmitted to the parents of the deceased by a committee of his classmates.

THE MORRISON STREET BRIDGE

It seems that some parties wish to create popular opinion adverse to the Morrison street bridge. We wish to say to the citizens of Portland and Multnomah county that we would deem it a great favor and privilege to meet their board of trade or a committee of the same, as was suggested in your editorial columns of yesterday, and explain to them in full our plan and show that we spare no pains to protect the shipping interest of Portland and the state. We do not wish to enter into discussion with parties who sign their communications "Observer," "Taxpayer," "Citizen," etc. Please let us have fair play and either sign your individual names or better still, to simplify matters, sign them all Stark Street Ferry company, and abandon the practice of firing from ambush.

Yours truly,
THE WILLAMETTE IRON BRIDGE CO.

"That Miss Jones is a nice looking girl, isn't she?"

"Yes, and she'd be the belle of the town if it wasn't for one thing."

"What's that?"

"She has catarrh so bad it is unpleasant to be near her. She has tried a dozen things and nothing helps her. I am sorry, for I like her, but it doesn't make it any less disagreeable for one to be around her."

Now if she had used Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy there would have been nothing of the kind said, for it will cure catarrh every time.

Art School—[illegible] Yamhill Street

Miss Morgan and Miss Caswell. Instruction given in all the higher branches of art. Drawing from cast and life. Oil and water color painting. Pastel crayon and charcoal drawing. A varied collection of original studies, including flowers, heads, figures, landscapes, etc. Visitors always welcome.

SHIPPING STOCK EAST

Notes of a Trip East with a Band of Horses—Absurd Questions about Oregon

One of the young men just returned from a trip East in charge of Hoxter & Newell's train of horses furnishes the following notes of the trip:

The Webfooters in charge of Hoxter & Newell's train of horses arrived at Geneva, N. Y., on Thursday evening, Sept. [illegible], and the next morning Albert [illegible] and Jacob Williams left for Goldendale, W. T., to take another train load across the continent. The stock reached its destination in fair condition notwithstanding the fact that it had been on the road twenty days. There were only twelve head lost by accident, which is considered very fortunate. Freight rates were furnished from Prosser, W. T., to Geneva, N. Y., by S. G. Fulton, assistant general freight agent of the Northern Pacific railroad, to whom the owners of the stock feel grateful for courtesies shown during the past year.

It is more costly to ship horses at this season of the year than in the spring or summer, for the reason that the grass is all dead and one must feed hay, which costs from $20 to $30 per ton along the route, and forty pounds of hay ought to be given to each horse daily when shipping, besides a rest of twelve hours out of every thirty six. Again, stock raised on the range does better if fed grass, and of course will lose in flesh, which is a loss in the sale of every animal. Much depends upon the care taken in handling stock, and a great responsibility rests with the one who handles the throttle of the engine that draws the train. The majority of railroad engineers care too little for the comfort of stock and handle the cars so roughly when starting or stopping trains loaded with live stock that a certain per cent of the losses in shipment is due mainly to the carelessness of engineers. A very few are without censure, a majority deserving a reprimand at the hands of those who employ them.

A word in regard to Oregon. In our three trips across the continent within the past six months we find that of all states in the Union Oregon is the least known, the least advertised and the least spoken of, and it is embarrassing sometimes to be in conversation with parties and someone ask, "How far is Oregon from St. Paul?" "Is Oregon in California?" "Is the Columbia river in Ohio?" "Are there any churches or school houses in your country?" "Has Sitting Bull made any more raids lately?" "How do you protect yourselves against the Indians?" etc., etc. One feels that he is living in a foreign land instead of under the protection of the stars and stripes. Within the past six months the writer has been asked at least one thousand questions such as quoted. One young man asked the writer a few days since, "Do you see the same moon and stars in Oregon that we do here?" One newspaper in New York published an item that a man drove from Washington Territory to Elmira, N. Y., in forty days with one span of mustangs, making fifty miles a day for thirty days and seventy five miles a day for ten days. Such ignorance in regard to the distance between Elmira, N. Y., and Washington territory ought to be shown by some one other than the editor of a newspaper having a circulation of 10,000 copies. The citizens of Oregon who desire to have our fair state known away from home should take steps at once to inform the world of her boundless resources. While at home one imagines that the Webfoot state is known far and near, but let him step beyond the shadow of the state line and he will greet as a brother the man who is familiar with Oregon as she is.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

Adolph Abpel Supposed to have been Drowned

Last Monday Adolph Abpel, a young man employed by A. Bissinger & Co. as foreman and who boarded at 160 Alder street, mysteriously disappeared, and fears are entertained that he is drowned. It appears that at 1 o'clock that afternoon Abpel hired a boat to take a row on the river. At [illegible] o'clock the same day the boat was found on a boom of logs near Pennoyer's mill, and some distance from it Abpel's coat and hat. The hat and coat were subsequently identified as Abpel's, and a book was found in the coat pocket with Abpel's name in it and papers which he is known to have possessed. This together with the fact that Abpel has not turned up since he hired the boat is all that leads to the belief that he has met a watery grave. Abpel's friends have dragged for the body and also used giant powder in hopes of recovering it, but without success. The missing man has relatives in this city who are naturally much agitated over his sudden disappearance.

THE MECHANICS' FAIR

A Fair Attendance Considering the Stormy Weather—The Art Gallery to be Opened To Night

The attendance at the Mechanics' fair last night, though not as large as on Thursday night, yet was much larger than could have been reasonably expected in the face of such rainy blustering weather.

The art gallery will be entirely ready for opening to night; in fact it was last night, but a leak on the east side of the gallery necessitated the taking down of a number of paintings. Fortunately the leak was discovered in time and no damage was done to any of the valuable paintings.

The music was excellent, the last number, the "Comic Tattoo," causing no little merriment. During the progress of the piece first the trombone quietly slipped out of the stand, followed by a[illegible] instruments, leaving the two drums alone, who suddenly finding themselves deserted wound up with a tap which showed their surprise in a graphic manner.

The programme for this afternoon's music is as follows:

PART I

March—Dragoon's Call	Eilenberg
(a) Farewell to the Forest (b) The Vale of Rest	Mendelssohn
Overture—Light Cavalry	Suppe
Serenade	Schubert
Cornet solo	[illegible] De Falco
Potpourri—Offenbachiana	Meyrelles

PART II

Overture—Jolly Robbers	Suppe
Waltz—My Queen	Bucalossi
Potpourri—La Mascotte	Audran
Romanza—Awake My Charmer	Ripley
Galop—Tally Ho	Bernstein

The programme for the evening session will be:

PART I

March—Albert	Lehr
Piccolo Solo—Millie	[illegible]
Mr S[illegible]
Cavatina—Everybody's Darling	[illegible]
Se[illegible] from Beggar Student	M[illegible]

PART II

Overture—[illegible]	A[illegible]
Cornet Solo—[illegible]	[illegible]
S. De Falco
Waltz—Visions of a Beautiful Woman	[illegible]
Medley—Bouquet National	[illegible]

PART III

Overture—America	Theo. M[illegible]
Alto Solo—Image of the Rose	Reichardt
Geo. Lauselin
Selections from the Pirates of Penzance	Sullivan
Galop—Geo. Goulle, Champagne	W[illegible]

HOME PRODUCTIONS AND MANUFACTURES

The following completes the list in this department of exhibitors and exhibits, of which the greater portion was given yesterday:

M. [illegible] Kittering, leather, Cedar Landing
W. J. Zimmerman, engine, East Portland
Sloan & Forrest, blacksmith tools, Eugene
E. Borie, preserved eggs, Portland
W. G. Wallace, flowers, Portland
H. W. Pa[illegible], smith's pruner and saw, Salem
Mr S. Simon, grape wine and sugar beets, [illegible]land
W. S. Griffith, washing machine and patent gate, Ashland
Oregon Pottery Co., terra cotta, drain pipe, sewer trap
John Brendel, grapes, Albina
George N. Thomas, cauliflower, Beaverton
A. L. Sm[illegible], grapes, Oswego
Mrs Alf T. Webb, jellies, Portland
Mrs B. F. Hart, fruit bottled, Portland
George Belshaw, grain, Eugene
M. Wilkins, grasses, Coburg
W. F. Gallagher, apples, Reedville
C. J. Burkhart, fruit and sweet potatoes, Albany
Southern Mfg Co., baking powder, San Antonio, Tex
F. H. Page, Zimmerman dryer, Portland
John Barrett, Amherst water motor, Portland
Collinson & Appel, dry goods, Portland
Wm. A. Fisher, etchings, Portland

NOTES

The Japanese Bazar exhibit in the gallery opposite the band stand is very neat and tasty. All the articles on display are the direct importation of Andrew Kan.

In the list of exhibitors published yesterday, the Portland Lime and Cement company were credited with having "artificial stones" on exhibition, whereas in reality it is pure Southern Oregon marble.

One of the most interesting features of the machinery department is the sand blast of the Portland Glass Decorative works. It is under the special supervision of Mr Adelbert Matteson, who handles the blast himself. Small pieces of glass are put through the process and come out covered with delicately traced designs. These are given away.

Owing to press of business the exhibit of M. A. Winne, successor to John B. Garrison, is not yet complete. Among the machines now on exhibition are the Domestic, Household, White and American. There will be several attendants whose business will be to show the various points of excellence of each machine. Much more remains to be said of this popular and well established business, which will appear in due time.

The exhibit of J. A. Cardwell attracts particular attention as being complete, and is well worthy of especial notice. This metal is capable of being molded into any form desired, and is very handsome. White bronze has received medals wherever shown and received the gold medal at the New Orleans world's exposition last year.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS

[illegible]

The [illegible] in the fair is Beblow's, who has been working [illegible] to finish his elaborate display. He [illegible] by halves [illegible] will be seen in every form—in piece and made up for wear as cloaks and otherwise. The west end has a great attraction in Beblow's fine display.

[illegible] SEWING MACHINES

The veteran sewing machine agent was [illegible] on hand to [illegible] the merits of the machines he represents. He knows [illegible] household commodities than any [illegible]. Mrs Winne, who has the business [illegible] to have Mr Carr[illegible] at the fair [illegible] on Third street to tell all about the [illegible] Domestic et al.

[illegible] & REILLY

This firm occupy a space on the main floor, north side. They are a new firm, but with courteous treatment to their customers won already a front place in their line. A feature of their exhibit is the issuance of tickets entitling holders to the drawing [illegible] the range [illegible] the display. Ask for a ticket. We [illegible] special further [illegible] their display.

MITCHELL, LEWIS & CO

Are present, as is their custom, with a liberal stock of wagons, buggies and farming implements. The Mitchell wagon is widely known over the coast and needs no recommendation at our hands. Farmers want them because they meet the demand, and the house informs us that the sales are growing daily. They will have no trouble to find the display in the mechanical department.

COLUMBIA WATER HEATER

Messrs Swager & [illegible] of the Lower Columbia have introduced an invention of their own which they claim to be ahead of anything in the way of heaters. Those in need of a water heater would do well to investigate this invention, as dollars saved is worth considering, and while about it take a circular to read up.

MAYER & CO

Whose store on Washington street attracts much attention, duplicate it at the fair.

B. FRIEDLANDER'S

Attractive clock display in the gallery is a one and in its way. He will carry off the honors.

[illegible] & CO

On the main floor have a fine exhibit of bonbons—not plain candies as reported.

CORVALLIS NOTES

CORVALLIS, OCT [illegible]

Quite a number from this place will attend the Mechanics' fair at Portland next week.

Plans are being prepared for a sixty stall round house to be built at Albany for the Oregon Pacific.

Mr M. S. Neugass returned last Monday from Ellensburg, W. T., where he has been looking after his business interests in that section.

Sheriff Mackay has now four prisoners in his charge—two for assault with deadly weapons, one for assault to murder and one for burglary.

Messrs. Cole & Struble are receiving the material for their new paper, to be called the Chronicle. This will make six weekly papers in Benton county.

The ladies coffee club gave the first of a series of socials in No. 1 engine hall last night, which was a very enjoyable affair. The citizens are quite proud of this valuable auxiliary to their efficient fire department.

John Reckard's son Ray, who was murderously assaulted by the brute McClellan with a pitchfork, has entirely recovered. Although large portions of his skull were removed the attending physicians say it will grow over.

Mr J. M. Campbell, superintendent of the bridges on the O. P., has recently been appointed roadmaster in addition. Mr Campbell is a thorough railroad man of vast experience and will fill the position well.

Edgar [illegible], ex-state county superintendent, left this place last [illegible]day for Hailey, Idaho, where he [illegible]. Prof. M[illegible] [illegible] many friends here [illegible].

The steamer [illegible] this place [illegible] trip and [illegible] that ever [illegible] this far up [illegible].

Mr L. Y. Wil[illegible] united in marriage [illegible] Miss [illegible] by the Rev. [illegible] bride's parents. [illegible] for Yaquina bay [illegible] their home [illegible] to take up their residence.

Work on the O. P. [illegible] for want of timber [illegible] the work will be pushed through [illegible] mountains this season. There is a large force of men in the Cascades grading, and there is not a particle of doubt but that the O. P. will [illegible] continental line as soon as the work can be done.

A dastardly attempt was made last night at 10:45 P. M., to set fire to the Occidental saloon, situated on the east side of Main street, in the frame range south of the Occidental hotel. Fortunately the fire was discovered when a bucket of water would quench the flames. This is the second fire within the last month of incendiary origin and the citizens are talking strongly of offering a reward of $250 for the arrest of any one caught firing a building; and if anyone is caught it would not be surprising at all if he was summarily dealt with.

Always reliable, always uniform; Ghirardelli's Eagle Chocolate. Superior to all. 5

VALUATION OF CITY PROPERTY

The following valuation of property is shown on the assessment roll certified to and turned over to the recorder by City Assessor Ogilbee for the year [illegible]:

Valuation of real estate and personal property	$[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
Total taxable property	$[illegible]

The roll has been [illegible] his hands and will remain there until after November 1, 1886, when it will be turned over to the city treasurer for collection.

DISCUSSING AN IMPORTANT MATTER

For several weeks past the subject of annexing this city to the city of Portland has been discussed quite freely by many of our prominent citizens and taxpayers, and [illegible] a number have expressed an opinion [illegible] such a scheme. They seem to consider that taxes would be higher, but they [illegible] would get a far better police and fire department, street lighting system, postal delivery and many other conveniences they cannot have now [illegible] a sufficient amount of money cannot [illegible] levying a tax of six mills as allowed [illegible] charter. There are many others [illegible] tax is high enough and who will [illegible] against the annexation scheme [illegible].

[illegible]

A [illegible] Mr Kirkland [illegible] pair of hounds and started out [illegible] hill out on the Sandy road. He had proceeded but a short distance when the hounds struck a trail [illegible] the fallen timber and in a moment afterward they began to bark and [illegible] heard the howling of wolves [illegible]. He followed the hounds [illegible] when they were standing on a [illegible] a few seconds after [illegible] at least two and one half [illegible]

[illegible] and killed him with [illegible] 150 yards distant [illegible] and a half [illegible] He thinks [illegible] in a day or two.

[illegible] a candid [illegible] explanation of my [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] the board are open to inspection, that is not a [illegible], but a privilege given to every citizen under the law, and you being a thorough man of business must know that but few men, and these under the most favorable circumstances, can avail themselves of your generous offer. It is not only due to the people, but the state board in justice to itself, should make a full, fair and explicit statement of its management of the trust imposed in it, and that through the columns of THE OREGONIAN, where everybody can see it. It may be that from its showing our people will be made cordial advocates of the whole system and the board saved from criticism, even by your humble servant,

A Look at Winnipeg—Thence to St. Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago

[Correspondence of The Oregonian.]

CHICAGO, Oct [illegible]

On my way I stopped three days at Winnipeg. In 1881 and 1882, for a period of sixteen months, values were enormously inflated and the spirit of speculation developed into a pure gamble. Everybody was rich in real estate. Every improvement was projected on a broad gauge basis, and even a hotel foundation quite as spacious as the Villard ruin was laid and then abandoned. Nine tenths of the property of the city is now held by loan and trust companies. Along the banks of the Assiniboine are a score of unfinished residences of most elaborate design and expensive material. They stand as the sad monuments of wrecked fortunes and ruined lives. Fine business blocks and hotels are vacant, while the present number of retail traders is out of all proportion to the development and population of the surrounding country. The process of liquidation continues and the bottom as to real estate [illegible] reached. The city [illegible] by several years. When the boom burst the [illegible] was rapid [illegible] severe. Still Winnipeg [illegible]

[illegible]

How [illegible] Minneapolis [illegible] St Paul [illegible]

[illegible]

Whoever has lived in Chicago always likes to get back there. It is the representative American city. If a man from the Atlantic or Pacific coast [illegible] drop him within a radius of 300 miles of here in either direction, his instinct would tell him he saw the circle of this great city's energies.

The number of massive business blocks and residences that have been added to Chicago within a year would make a large city of them. Every artery of trade and commerce seems to throb with new life. There is no longer complaint [illegible]. The [illegible] interest of the great lakes, which a year ago seemed threatened with extinction, is now [illegible] owing to the revival of the iron industry and the extraordinary movement of grain toward the seaboard.

Though there is little said on the subject it is an open secret that several of Chicago's capitalists have recently acquired valuable mining properties in Montana. There is a [illegible] feeling that sooner or later there will be another excitement in mining and that the theater of action will be in Montana and Idaho. A prominent board of trade man, formerly of the firm of N. K. Fairbank & Co., who is treasurer of a Montana mining company whose dividends are upwards of $12,000 a month, assured me to-day that men like Leiter (the initials I do not recall) are quietly buying all the good mines they can find, with the intention of making Chicago the market for them through a mining board. M.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

A STATEMENT BY WHITNEY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—A [illegible] letter was received at the navy department to-day from Secretary Whitney, in response to appeals of the Knights of Labor and other organizations and from individuals, asking his interference to secure reinstatement of discharged employes of the Washington navy yard. He says [illegible] appeals that he will [illegible] himself interfere and will not permit either the officers of the navy department to interfere or exercise any influence in this matter. Responsibilities for removals, retentions and appointments at the navy yard must be left entirely with [illegible] of the yard who are directly responsible for the work. Foremen of bureaus [illegible] must be uninterfered with in [illegible] in this matter and will be held accountable for removals and appointments. The secretary says that he is pleased to learn that discharged men who are competent will be given preference in cases of making appointments [illegible] that a large portion of them will be recalled as work is actively resumed.

[illegible] INVOLVING MILLIONS

THE OLEOMARGARINE LAW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The acting secretary of the treasury has asked the attorney general for an opinion as to whether the oleomargarine law imposes a tax on the different ingredients used in the manufacture of oleomargarine and also a tax on the article when finished and placed on the market, or whether the law contemplates a tax only on the finished article. The question has been raised by opponents of the measure, and its determination will make considerable difference one way or the other to persons dealing in oleomargarine.

Commissioner Miller has received proofs of the new oleomargarine stamps and said yesterday that stamps would be ready for shipment to collectors about the 15th instant.

WASHINGTON NOTES

DR. JOHN BULL'S

S[illegible]

FOR THE CURE OF

FEVER and AGUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. Use no other.

SPINNEY will guarantee to Forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

Middle-aged Men

There are many at the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, whitish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. SPINNEY will Guarantee a Perfect Cure in all such cases and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs. Address Box 522, Portland, Or.

GRANT IN PEACE.

The Difficulties Encountered in For[illegible] the First Cabinet

Results of Inexperience, but Nothing which Old Soldier for a Moment Thought was Insurmountable

Contributed by Gen. Adam Badeau

On the 4th of March Grant refused the c[illegible] pany of the outgoing president on his wa[illegible] the capitol and Johnson remained at the W[illegible] house, signing his last papers, until n[illegible] Then he made room for the man who[illegible] doubtless detested more than any other [illegible] had done more than any other to foil his p[illegible] and thwart his wishes and now was to supp[illegible] him and demolish whatever of a policy John[illegible] had been able to establish by obstinacy or [illegible] cumstance or craft. At the capitol another[illegible] Grant's rivals, Chief Justice Chase, admi[illegible] tered the oath of that office which he had d[illegible] self so earnestly hoped and striven to attain[illegible] And thus the highest [illegible] that any A[illegible] can can achieve was added to the military [illegible] ries already heaped on Grant. He was very [illegible] served and even less rand[illegible] colder in ma[illegible] than ever before, and evidently felt the gra[illegible] of his position, the full dignity of his offic[illegible] had never seen him so impressed but once [illegible] fore. In the first day's battle in the Wilder[illegible] he was almost stern at times and wore [illegible] gloves and sword belt, were unusual circ[illegible] stances with him and they seemed to me t[illegible] dicate his sense of the novel and increa[illegible] responsibilities for that was his first battle [illegible] general-in-chief of the armies. On the first [illegible] of his presidency there were no trappings[illegible] office to assume, but he bore himself with a [illegible] tant and almost frigid demeanor that mar[illegible] how much he felt he was removed from th[illegible] who had hitherto been in some sort his ass[illegible] ates. That day there was no geniality [illegible] familiar jest, hardly a smile, but the man w[illegible] became the chief of a nation of fifty milli[illegible] and stepped into the ranks of earth's might[illegible] potentates might well be grave.

HIS PERSONAL STAFF

Attended him to the capitol and afterward [illegible] the White house, where their military relati[illegible] with him ceased. He desired them to meet h[illegible] the next morning in the cabinet chamber, a[illegible] then returned to his private residence, which [illegible] family did not vacate for several weeks. He [illegible] rected me, however, to remain at the Wh[illegible] house and receive any communications for h[illegible] during the day. In this way it happened th[illegible] his first correspondence as president was w[illegible] me. I give it in full.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, March 4, 18[illegible]

Dear General—Mr George H. Stuart is one [illegible] a committee, the others being the chief justice a[illegible] Senator Frelinghuysen, who desire to present [illegible] in the name of some religious society with a bi[illegible] They will wait on you whenever you say—exc[illegible] that the chief justice must be at the supreme cou[illegible] and Mr Stuart leaves here to-morrow night [illegible] you will send word to me what time will suit y[illegible] I will let Mr Stuart know. Mr Stuart propo[illegible] to-morrow morning before 10 o'clock, or if the co[illegible] does not meet till 11 before that time. With gr[illegible] respect your obedient servant,

ADAM BADEAU

To the President of the United States.

My note was returned, and on the back of [illegible] Grant penciled these words, the first he wr[illegible] as president:

"To-morrow before 10 A. M. at my house, or [illegible] tween 10 A. M. and 3 P. M. at the executive m[illegible] sion. U. S. G[illegible]"

The meeting took place in the cabinet ro[illegible] and Chase presented the bible, expressing [illegible] hope that its contents might enable Grant [illegible] fill his high office worthily. The chief justi[illegible] must have required a full share of Christi[illegible] sentiment to enable him to perform the task.

DISPOSING OF HIS STAFF

Immediately afterward Grant received his st[illegible] for the last time, and announced the disposit[illegible] he made of them. Three were nominally plac[illegible] on the staff of Sherman, who succeeded Gra[illegible] as general-in-chief, but they were in reality [illegible] be on duty at the executive mansion. Hora[illegible] Porter was to act as private secretary and Ba[illegible] cock to assist him. Comstock had some nomi[illegible] duties from which he soon requested to [illegible] relieved, and was ordered to duty as [illegible] engineer. Dent remained as aide-de-cam[illegible] with ceremonial functions, and Park[illegible] was shortly afterward appointed commission[illegible] of Indian affairs. I was assigned a room at t[illegible] Executive mansion where I was to finish m[illegible] Military History and to have some charge [illegible] Grant's unofficial letters for a while, but wh[illegible] I saw the president alone he informed me th[illegible] he meant to give me the mission to Belgiu[illegible] He did not wish, however, to appoint me [illegible] once, lest it should provoke a charge of favor[illegible] ism.

A few weeks before the 4th of March [illegible] nothing was said by Grant to either Rawlins [illegible] Washburne of their future, both became u[illegible] Rawlins went off to Connecticut, and from the[illegible] it was reported to Grant that he was dyin[illegible] Grant sent for him and told him he was to [illegible] secretary of war, whereupon Rawlins at on[illegible] got very much better. But Washburne was [illegible] of the same disease, and to him Grant n[illegible] offered the position of secretary of the Interi[illegible] Rawlins, of course, was satisfied with his prom[illegible] ised dignity, but Washburne would have pr[illegible] ferred to be secretary of the treasury. This p[illegible] sition however Grant designed for A. T. Stew[illegible] art, the well known merchant of New Yor[illegible] He thought that a man who had managed h[illegible] own affairs so well must be successful with th[illegible] finances of the nation. Stewart was, indee[illegible] the first of those designed for cabinet position[illegible] whom Grant informed of his intention. Wi[illegible] his great business it was necessary that he shoul[illegible] be apprised in advance, so that he might ma[illegible] his arrangements in time.

WASHBURNE'S DESIRE

When Washburne was positive that he con[illegible] not obtain the portfolio of the treasury, [illegible] asked for the state department, but Grant wa[illegible] unwilling to make the appointment. Wash[illegible] burne then declared that he would prefer to t[illegible] minister to France and to this Grant consen[illegible] ed. But Washburne [illegible] request as a per[illegible] sonal favor that he might hold the position o[illegible] secretary of state for a few days. The consid[illegible] eration this would give him afterward both a[illegible] home and in his new position was somethin[illegible] he thought Grant should not refuse. Wash[illegible] burne, indeed, had been a devoted friend, ha[illegible] made many opportunities for Grant in th[illegible] days when Grant needed them, had first su[illegible] gested and afterwards urged in congress eve[illegible] one of Grant's promotions that required legisl[illegible] tive action from brigadier general of voluntee[illegible] to general of the armies, and if Grant was unde[illegible] obligations to any human being it was to Was[illegible] burne. He knew, besides, that Washburne ha[illegible] expected more than he was receiving, that h[illegible] was a disappointed man, as he well might be[illegible] and Grant consented to the temporary appoint[illegible] ment of secretary of state with the unde[illegible] standing that no important places were to b[illegible] filled while Washburne held the position, tha[illegible] he was to have the name but not the authorit[illegible] James F. Wilson, of Iowa, was offered th[illegible] permanent position, but declined it on th[illegible] ground that he had no private fortune and th[illegible] the salary was insufficient for the inevitable ex[illegible] pense that must be incurred. Wilson also fe[illegible] that his abilities were better fitted for othe[illegible] posts. Rawlins had suggested Wilson's name[illegible] for after Rawlins knew that he was himself t[illegible] be a cabinet minister he felt free to offer [illegible] on many points, and in fact [illegible] ence, if not an ascendency which [illegible] seemed to have waned.

[illegible]

Rawlins, however, was not [illegible] be secretary o[illegible] war immediately. [illegible] for awhile. He had proved himself a friend i[illegible] a position where he [illegible] have given Gran[illegible] trouble, and this recognition was his rewar[illegible] He sat as Grant's first secretary of war.

No other appointments to the cabinet wer[illegible] made known in advance even to those fo[illegible] whom they were intended. The other minis[illegible] ters first read their names in the newspapers o[illegible] the 5th of March. A few days before the inaug[illegible] uration Adolph E. Borie, of Philadelphia[illegible] was in Washington, and on the 3d of March h[illegible]
